The Roles

Graduate Software Developer

Working within a team of experienced developers, our Graduate Developers are expected to discover new skills to deliver high quality user-friendly software. This will include new functional, integration and reporting requirements. You will own and manage complex technical or development issues and change requests through to resolution, ensuring that any development is well thought out and provides the best solution.

Whilst this is a more technical role, it's also one where you will enjoy interpreting the business requirements to design and deliver an efficient solution.

Graduate Functional Consultant

Working as part of a consultancy team, you will work on full life cycle Microsoft Dynamics Business Central Projects dealing with clients throughout the whole implementation process.

Running customer workshops to understand their requirements and identifying where Dynamics 365 needs to be customised to fit unique business needs. You will be responsible for analysis, design, solution testing and end user training.
